OUR NEW TROLLEY LINE.

Company Asks Council to Grant Them Franchises.

ROAD TO BE COMPLETED IN 2 YEARS

Council Gives Clearfield Contractor Job of Laying a Concrete Walk Along wall on North Water Street—Ordinance Submitted Regulating Water Department.

WATER APPEALS HEARD NOV 27.

The boro council met Monday evening at 8 o'clock, a half hour later than the scheduled time. President Cunningham was in the chair with the following members present: Reynolds, Fenlon, Wise, Kirk and Jenkins.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the clerk, Mr. W. T. Kelly and there being no corrections they stood approved.

Boro Solicitor Fortney, Water Superintendent Ryan, Boro Engineer Henry Wetzel and Street Commissioner Thos. Shaughnessy were the boro officials present.

Col. W. F. Reeder on behalf of Bellefonte Electric Street Railway presented an ordinance asking council to grant them franchises permitting them to construct a street railway through the principal streets of our town. He had drawn up an ordinance which he submitted to the boro solicitor for his approval.

The steam boilers at the Water Works have been inspected and found in good condition.

Mr. Wise of the Street committee reported cleaning various streets and alleys.

The Water, Fire and Police, Market, Nuisance and Finance committees had nothing of importance to report.

The contract between the boro and the Bellefonte Electric Company for lighting the streets for a period of three years from January 1, 1904 with a privilege of five was taken up. Mr. Fenlon moved seconded by Col. Reynolds that the contract be drawn up and approved. Motion carried.

The contract between George I. Thompson, of Clearfield, and the boro for laying the concrete walk on North Water street was read by the clerk. Dr. Kirk and President Cunningham both entered their protests against laying a concrete walk along this thoroughfare on new made ground. The contract price is to be paid in two years time and the contractor is to give a bond for the successful completion of the work. The pavement is guaranteed for two years. There seemed to be no action necessary in the matter as the Street committee at a previous meeting had been ordered to make the contract. The work on the new pavement will begin at once.

The ordinance granting a franchise to the Bellefonte Electric Street Railway Company was read and discussed. It was to important a matter for council to take immediate action upon.

The different councilmen expressed their opinion in the matter. They were favorable to the Street Railway project and thought that it could not come to soon. The street railway is to be completed within two years after the granting of the franchises. It was held over for farther investigation.

President Cunningham named Friday evening November 27th as the date for hearing water appeals.

An ordinance regulating the Water department of Bellefonte was then offered by Col. Reynolds and read by the clerk. It is quite lengthy. The water rate is fixed by this ordinance. Solicitor Fortney explained some things in regard to it. It makes some radical changes in the Water Department and was prepared by Mr. Fortney. The council decided to hold it over for careful consideration.

Boro Engineer Wetzel made a statement in regard to having permanent grades fixed for our streets. Council will take permanent action in the matter in the near future.

After hearing the bills council adjourned sine die.

The following bills were approved and orders drawn:

DAY OF THANKS.

Governor Pennypacker Follows Lead of President and Names Thanksgiving Day.

Governor Pennypacker has issued the following Thanksgiving proclamation:

In conformity with a custom so long regarded that it has become a law of conduct and an expression of the will of the people, I, Samuel Whittaker Pennypacker, governor of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do hereby set apart Thursday, Nov. 26, as a day for giving thanks and praise to the Lord for his Infinite goodness and mercy.

The dearth and scarcity which afflicted our forefathers, He hath turned to plenty. He hath blessed the land so that it is fruitful and brings forth whatever is needed for the life of man. He hath saved us from the hands of our enemies and has hitherto preserved us from all perils. He hath permitted no plague, pestilence or famine to destroy us. In good measure, He hath delivered us from hatred, malice and uncharitableness. He hath so directed and prospered the consulations of our rulers that peace and happiness, truth and justice, are established among us.

Let us then meet in our churches and places of worship and offer up our prayers for the maintenance of our health and prosperity and the increase of our virtue and piety under His guidance and care; and let us not forget to comfort the sick, to clothe the naked and to feed those who are in hunger and want.

Given under my hand and the great seal of the state at the city of Harrisburg this 5th day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and three, and of the commonwealth the one hundred and twenty-eighth.

Crissman—Bultmann.

A Washington, (Pa.,) paper gives the following account of a wedding in which many Bellefonte people will be interested, the groom being Mr. John Crissman, the eldest son of Mr. Harry Crissman for years a resident of the west ward, and nephew of Homer Crissman, of the Bellefonte Central railroad;

"A marriage that was characterized by elegance was solemnized at Washington, Ind., Oct. 27th, at St Mary's church at 8 p. m., by Rev. Francis Farbeck. The contracting parties being Miss Fannie Bultmann, the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Mrs. Francis Bultmann, of the West end, and Mr John Crisseman, a popular glass worker of Vincennes.

Will Crissman, of Pittsburg, Pa., brother of the groom, acted as best man, while Miss Katharine Bultmann, sister of the bride acted as bridesmaid. After the marriage the happy young couple was driven to the bride's home where an elegant supper was served to a large number of friends and relatives after which dancing was the feature of the evening for which Prof. Herr's orchestra furnished music.

The bride's gown was made of white silk organdie, trimmed with valenciennes lace and ribbon. She wore the veil and wreath and carried a large bouquet of white chrysanthemums. The groom was attired in the usual black.

Mr. and Mrs. Crisseman departed at midnight for California to spend their honeymoon. They will reside in Vincennes on their return."

Death of Mrs. J. L. Walkey.

After having suffered for a longtime with cancer Mrs. J. L. Walkey passed peacefully away at her home, about a mile from Hublersburg on Tuesday morning. She had been in bad health, as a result of her affliction, for a long time and in the hope of gaining relief she submitted to an operation about two weeks ago, but the trouble had advanced too far to be eradicted and her death resulted.

Mrs. Walkey was about fifty years old. Her death caused poignant sorrow to her husband and their sons John, Charles and Carl, as well as her aged mother, six sisters, a brother and a wide circle of friends; for she was a loving, devoted mother and a woman of exemplary christain habits.

Funeral services were conducted at her late home Thursday afternoon, by Rev. H. I. Crow, of the Reformed church and interment was made in the Reformed cemetery.

Bears Feast on Apples.

Bears are indeed plentiful around Salladasburg and are becoming so "nervy" that they not only steal apples, but go so far as to select just the kind of apples they want. Several orchards in that locality have been visited and evidences left by the bears, who have shaken the apple trees and finding that they had shaken sour apples have let them lay and visited sweet apple trees.

BATTLE WITH FLAMES!

Lieut. Roland Curtin's Heroism Prevents Great Disaster.

FIRE NEAR VESSEL'S MAGAZINE

Lighted Candle Started Blaze in Destroyer Lawrence at Norfolk—Lieut. Curtin Overcome in Desperate Effort to Keep Flames from Dynamite.

THE LIEUTENANT FINALLY RESCUED

Lieut. Roland Curtin, son of Gen. John I. Curtin of this place, had a thrilling experience on last Thursday an account of which we take from the Washington Post. It is as follows:

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 12.—The heroism of Lieut. Curtin and several seamen on board the torpedo boat destroyer Lawrence today saved that craft from destruction and probably prevented the entire flotillia being blown to atoms. The carelessness of a workman, who left a lighted candle on a wooden box in the vessel's forward compartment caused a fire that destroyed much of the Lawrence's woodwork before it was extinguished by Lieut. Curtin and some seamen just before the flames reached the magazine in which a great quantity of dynamite was stored.

In their desperate battle with the flames Lieut. Curtin and his men were so overcome by the smoke that they lost consciousness after the fight was won, and were hurried on board the cruiser Olympia for treatment. Their condition is not serious.

The fire occurred in a stuffy compartment, directly adjoining the magazine, and had gained considerable headway when it was discovered. The place was filled with a dense smoke that baffled the efforts of the crew and caused them to fall helpless to the steel floor. Time and again Lieut. Curtin plunged into the fire chamber and emerged with the unconscious form of a seaman in his grasp. After a hurried resuscitation the jackey and his officer would return to the fight, only to again succumb to the smoke.

Finally the flames were extinguished and then the lieutenant was missed. A sailor plunged into the compartment and a second later darted out with the limp body of the officer in his arms. Five seamen in a similar condition were stretched out on deck. All were hurried abroad the Olympia in dry dock, and the yard surgeon soon brought them to consciousness.

The damage to the Lawrence was trifling, but had the flames reached the magazine the result would have been appalling.

Aged Beech Creek Resident Dead.

John Nestlerode, one of the oldest and best known citizens of Beech Creek, died suddenly Monday forenoon at 11 o'clock, aged 86 years. Mr. Nestlerode lived on the oposite side of the creek from Beech Creek borough in Liberty township, Centre county. He is the last of a family of five brothers and two sisters, who were among the early settlers of that section. His wife, Mary Ann Nestlerode, preceded him to the grave last August. He leaves to mourn his loss the following children: Mary, wife of William J. Haagen, Elizabeth, wife of Thomas Smith, Clara, wife of James Hunter, all of Beech Creek; Nancy J., wife of Howard Johnson, and Ida, wife of Albert Long, of Johnsonburg; and one son, John J., of Pittsburg; also 26 grandchildren.

The funeral services will be held at the Disciple church in Beech Creek this Thursday morning and burial will be made in the family lot in the Disciple church yard. All friends of the deceased are invited to the funeral.

Sudden Death at Tyrone.

Everyone employed on the Bald Eagle Valley Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad is acquainted with John Riley, chief clerk in the Superintendents office at Tyrone, and all were inexpressibly shocked when the news became general of his sudden death which occurred Wednesday at nine o'clock while attending to his duties in the chief clerks office.

Mr. Riley was stricken with apoplexy and died within fifteen minutes after taking the stroke. He was prominently known in railroad circles and was quite popular. He leaves a wife and family.

He was 60 years of age and came to Tyrone in 1873 and had been in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad ever since.

STATE DEFEATED.

Dickinson Gets Away With Them by the Score of 6 to 0.

One thousand foot ball enthusiasts went down to Williamsport Saturday from Bellefonte and State College to cheer for States team in their game with Dickinson College. They were accompanied by the Cadet band.

The students and their band paraded through the principal streets of Williamsport and made a most excellent impression.

Over 4000 people witnessed the game which was one of the best ever seen in Williamsport.

The result of the game furnished a surprise to the local football sharps. While a stiff battle was expected State was looked upon as a winner by a comfortable margin, but before many minutes of play it was seen that a battle of gladiators was on and it was to be anybody's game. As play after play was developed by both teams even the opposing rooters were forced to admire the skill shown.

And speaking of rooters, "Cal" Waller had his 700 State men lined up on the north side of the field with large white and blue "State" banners in their front and gave one of the greatest exhibitions of concerted, cheering and singing that has ever been witnessed in this city. They had football songs set to the music of all the popular songs of the day and sang them almost effectively. One of the prettiest sights of the game was when Waller would give the signal for a silent cheer and the hundreds of State flags would, as though impelled by one arm, rise with the air and lower again three times.

NOTES.

State was a good loser and showed herself a thorough sportsman. Though whipped she took if good naturedly and said. "That's one on us, but wait until next year."

Comparative football scores are valueless. Dickinson lost Pennsylvania 27 to 0 and State lost to Penn 39 to 0. State defeated Annapolis 17 to 0 and Annapolis defeated Dickinson 5 to 0.

Neither State nor Dickinson lose many of this year's games. Dickinson only loses two.

Both teams were carried off the field after the game on the shoulders of their supporters.

Saturday's great contest shoulde make the annual State-Dickinson game a great drawing card in Williamsport.

The State-Dickinson game will be played on the Seminary Athletic field at Williamsport again next fall and the Dickinson manager says the whole college will go to see it next time and encourage its team to win again.

GOOD NEWS FOR MILL HALL

American Axe & Tool Company's Factories Pass

INTO HANDS OF MANN BROTHERS

The Transfer Also Includes the Old Mill Property and Nine Houses—New Company Capitalized at $200,000

THE SNOW SHOE STRIKE SETTLED

MILL HALL, Nov. 18.—The board of directors of the American Axe and Tool Co., ratify the sale of factories Nos. 5 and 8, of said company, located at Mill Hall, to the Mann Edge Tool Co., of Lewistown, and thus the original Robert Mann factory passes back into the hands of his children and heirs.

A meeting of the board of directors of the A. A. & T. Co., held Tuesday at Pittsburg, the negotiations which have been for some time pending in regard to the sale of factories Nos. 5 and 8 located at Mill Hall to the Mann Edge Tool Co., of Lewistown, were brought to a close by the ratification of the action of the executive committee of the A. A. & T. Co. in making the sale. This sale was really negotiated several months ago and all that was necessary to make it bona fide was the above action of the directors.

This sale includes besides the two factories mentioned, the old mill property in Mill Hall, seven single and one double house above No. 5 factory, also the large dwelling opposite the upper office originally built in 1882 by Joseph R. Mann for a residence for himself. This deal also includes all the machinery contained in these factories, together with all appurtenances used in the manufacture of axes and tools. The capital stock of the new company will be $200,000, every dollar of which has been taken by the heirs of the late Robert Mann.

There will not be any changes made in the running of the new company's business other than W. H. Mann will probably be made superintendent and A. C. Mann general manager.

The A. A. & T. Co. will continue to operate these factories until present orders shall have been filled which will probably be until near the close of the present year. It is also stipulated in agreement that the said A. A. & T. Co. shall have ten days in which to remove all axes in stock or in process of manufacture.

WILKESBARRE, Nov. 18.—The long continued efforts to end the strike at Snow Shoe, in Centre county, resulted Tuesday in liberal concessions to the mine workers there. President Gildea, of the Clearfield soft coal district, with Board Members William Pokall and Geo. Parks, to-day held a conference with Superintendents Warriner, Chase and Snyder, of the Lehigh Valley Coal Co. in this city, and went home to-night satisfied that the men would accept the concessions and return to work on December 1.

The miners went out last June because the Lehigh Valley Company let some work at fifty-six cents a ton straight. The union mine workers demanded sixty-six cents a ton.

At the conference Tuesday the company offered sixty six cents a ton for low coal and sixty cents a ton for high coal, and promised to increase the latter price to sixty-six cents next April.

A meeting of the strikers will be held Thursday night and the concessions will be discussed. President Gildea says there is only one other strike in his district, at Summerville, at collieries owned by an individual company, and that there is no immediate prospect of its settlement.

An Alarm of Fire.

About half-past one o'clock Thursday afternoon the fire alarm sounded for the South Ward. The location of the fire proved to be in the drying kiln at Ardell's plaining mill.

The fire was discovered by the employes before it had a chance to gain much headway and by means of small hose kept about the place was extinguished without serious damage and before the fire companies reached the scene.

The origin of the fire is unknown but it is said that men have been in the habit of staying in the building at night and probably some ashes from pipe or cigars dropped in the saw dust and smouldered there until discovered Thursday.

DEER ARE DECREASING.

An Anomaly of the Northern Pennsylvania Forests Explained.

With more than a week of deer season gone, during which scores of gunners have taken to the woods, one bear of but very few successes. Indeed, it was Thursday before the first report of a deer being killed was received. This one, a splendid doe, was that in the Eddy Lick region of Clinton county. Local hunters are free to confess that deer are becoming scarcer every year. As black bear increase, deer diminish. Twenty years ago it was the other way—black bear was scarce and deer comparatively plentiful.

Gunners are convinced that the scarcity now noted is nothing more nor less than the gradual extinction of deer in this section. Unlike the bear, deer do not stay in a section that has been denuded of its heavy timber. "Slashings" are too open for the timid creatures.

Men who predicted in the late summer that few deer would be shot this fall based their calculations upon observations made in the Billmeyer deer park near Washingtonville. Among the more than 100 head of deer that Mr. Billmeyer has there but a dozen young ones were born. There is a strong sentiment that the shooting of deer should be entirely prohibited for at least five years. Unless this be done the men who favor it say deer will be practically extinct in another ten years.

The Hall Reunion At Unionville.

On Saturday, Nov. 7th in the capacious parlor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hall, at Unionville, were assembled a large number of guests awaiting the glad summons, "please step out to dinner," and as the delightful aroma of roast turkey and the usual accompaniments pervaded the room, "Andy" Bell and Ed. Hall moved uneasily in their chairs and fumbled with the lapels of their coats, with their fingers; watching all the while with eager eyes for the dining room door to open as if unable to contain themselves longer. And we might add "there were others." In due time the welcome invitation came and the long table, that was loaded with all the delicacies of the season, calculated to tempt the appetite of the most fastidious epicure, was soon filled and for the space of one hour the "witties" on that table kept on evaporating like mist before the morning sun, while joy was unconfined and mirth and jollity was the order of the day.

It was an ideal turkey dinner, gotten up in the highest style of culinary art or in the more modern expression of the elite, "domestic science," in honor of the Hall families. Four brothers, John Hall, Jessie Hall, Robert Hall and Aaron Hall—pioneer settlers of Union township—were represented by some of their descendants at this carnival of good things: Twenty-nine guests were present to wit:

Mr. and Mrs. J. Newlin Hall, of Howard; Mrs. Eliza Hall Peters, and son Clifford, of St. Paul, Minn., in whose honor the dinner was given and who was making her first visit to the home of her girlhood in twenty-nine years, Mrs. Mary Hall, of Driftwood; Mrs. Mary Hall Holter and Miss Susan Hall, of Howard; Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Bell, of Bellefonte; Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Hall, D. C. Hall, George P. Hall, Miles Hall, Mrs. Sarah Hall, Miss Betsy Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. T. Hall, G. W. Rumberger, wife and daughter Marian, Mrs. Margaret Brugger, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Brugger, Mr. and Mrs. Jos. E. Brugger and their son Cornelius, Mrs. Malissa Bing and the venerable Wm. Iddings, all of Unionville and vicinity.

A Child's Narrow Escape from Serious Injury.

Saturday afternoon little Ruth Weight, the eleven year old daughter of George Weight, had quite a mishap but fortunately escaped without serious injury. Child like she was amusing herself by jumping on behind passing buggies and wagons.

In jumping off one of them she, did not see an approaching wagon until to late to get out of its way. She was knocked down and run over but strange to relate no bones were broken and she escaped without serious injury.

The accident happened on Willowbank street near the match factory.

HOTEL MEN PROSECUTED

For Selling Adulterated Wines and Brandy.

MORE THAN 900 SAMPLES COLLECTED

Thirty-Nine Clearfield and Centre County Bonifaces in the Grip of the Pure Food Department.

A NUMBER OF CASES SETTLED

Thirty-nine hotel men in Clearfield and Centre counties have been arrested by the officers of the law on charges of selling adulterated liquors, the information having been made by the agents of the pure food department.

Division Pure Food Agent James Foust, of Altoona, returned Friday evening from Osceola, where he made information before Justice of the Peace P. Gallagher against L. Maxwell, F. Krach, T. J. Mayne, Louis Thomas, Joseph Bensinger, E. C. Ross, C. Cotter, S. A. Nelson, Cassell & Lafgrin, E. C. Rudolph, F. R. Dietz, V. Raybury, J. T. Findley, I. M. Wilson, W. L. Scheen, Thomas Gaffney and John B. Storm, all of Dubois; George J. Ege, C. A. Meade, both of Falls Creek; E. J. Smith, Charles Callahan, E. T. Burd, Shade & Cramer, E. L. Beckwith, J. W. Wilson, J. D. Connelly, J. F. Crouse, all of Clearfield; Joseph Langan, E. H. Lewis, Theodore Cox, all of Curwensville; John H. Burns, Harry Washburn, P. J. Reed, H. D. McLaughlin, all of Osceola; W. H. Herman, William McKenzie, F. H. Law, all of Houtzdale, and James Passmore, E. Hugg, Tempest Slinger, C. North, James Black, Frank Grede and Samuel Rodgen, all of Philipsburg.

Each of the above is charged with selling blackberry wine and brandy and port wine that was adulterated with salicylic acid, coal tar dye and other deleterious substances, many of the samples having none of the blackberry in them, being purely chemical compositions.

The Houtzdale, Osceola and Philipsburg defendants have all appeared and submitted to the charge, paying $55 fine and costs, thus keeping the cases out of the courts.

The constable Friday served the warrents on the Dubois, Curwensville, Falls Creek and Clearfield men, but up to a late hour Mr. Foust had not heard what action they will take, but he believes they will follow the lead of their Centre county brethren.

During the month of September Messrs. Foust and H. L. Banzhoff collected more than 900 samples of blackberry brandy, wine and other liquors in twenty-eight counties of western Pennsylvania, and of this number the chemist returned about 90 per cent, as adulterated.

There will be, all told, between 600 and 700 cases to be brought against the liquor men for violating the pure food laws. The crusade started in Clearfield county Friday and will be kept up until all the impure liquor is forced from the market. Commissioner Warren is determined to break up the traffic in poisonous liquors. All dealers who are caught the second time will have their cases forced into court.

A POLICEMAN'S TESTIMONY.

J. N. Patterson, night policeman of Nashua, Ia., writes, "Last winter I had a bad cold on my lungs and tried at least a half dozen advertised cough medicines and had treatment from two physicians without getting any benefit. A friend recommended Foley's Honey and Tar and two thirds of a bottle cured me. I consider it the greatest cough and lung medicine in the world." C. M. Parrish.

California's Monstrous Crawfish.

A huge crawfish resembling a baby whale in size will be exhibited by Santa Barbara county, California, as the World's Fair. The crawfish was caught recently in a trap which was set in the channel a short distance off shore from San Luis Obispo, Cal. In length it measures exactly thirty-seven and one half inches, from the end of the tail to the end of the "feelers." The fish is twenty-inches around the head and weighs eighteen pounds. Unable to withstand the change of surroundings, the crawfish died shortly after being taken from the water. A large metal box is being made in which to keep him while on exhibition at the Fair. Sixteen gallons of alcohol will be required to preserve the fish.

—There is no cough medicine so popular as Foley's Honey and Tar. It contains no opiates or poisons and never fails to cure. C. M. Parrish.

A GOOD NAME.

From personal experience I testify that DeWitt's Little Early Risers are unequalled as a liver pill. They are rightly named because they give strength and energy and do their work with ease.—W. T. Easton, Boerne, Tex. Thousands of people are using these tiny little pills in preference to all others, because they are so pleasant and effectual. They cure biliousness, torpid liver, jaundice, sick headache, constipation, etc. They do not purge and weaken, but cleanse and strengthen: Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

What The Moon Can Tell.

A clear moon indicates frost.

A dull looking moon means rain.

A single halo around the moon indicates a storm.

If the moon look high cold weather may be expected.

If the moons looks low down, warm weather is promised.

The new moon on her back always denotes cold weather.

A double halo around the moon means very boisterous weather.

If the moon be bright and clear when three days old fine weather is promised.

When the moon is visible in the day time, then may we look forward to cool days.

If the moon changes with the wind in the east, then shall we have bad weather.

When the points of the cresent of the new moon are very clearly visible, frost may be looked for.

If the new moon appears with its points upwards, then will the month be dry, but should the points be downward more or less rain may be expected during the next three weeks.

HE COULD HARDLY GET UP,

P. H. Duffy of Ashley, Ill., writes, "This is to certify that I have taken two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure and it has helped me more than any other medicine. I tried many advertised remedies, but none of them gave me any relief. My druggist recommended Foley's Kidney Cure and it has cured me. Before commencing its use I was in such a shape that I could hardly get up when once down.,, C. M. Parrish.

"Mrs. Vanderbilt says for you to take the garbage off the dumb waiter. There's no room for the empty milk bottles!"

Think of it! A Vanderbilt living in a flat! Yet that is just what is going to happen, for Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, wearied of the woes of keeping up a big house, is about to move into an apartment of six rooms and bath, right here in New York. Now will her troubles begin or end? What do other woman think? At any rate, every woman will enjoy learning just how the wife of one of the world's richest men is going to keep house in a six-room flat. See next Sunday's New York World.

ANXIOUS MOMENTS.

Some of the most anxious hours of a mother's life are those when the little ones of the household have the croup. There is no other medicine so effective in this terrible malady as Foley's Honey and Tar. It is a household favorite for throat and lung troubles, and as it contains no opiates or other poisons, it can be safely given. C. M. Parrish.

How Would You Like to be the Winner?

There is a young Democrat in this town who is the envy of his friends as the result of an election bet. He agreed to give his best girl, who is an Osceola young lady, a box of candy for every hundred votes Gordon received above that of Smith, provided the lady would pledge herself to give him a kiss for every vote Smith got above that of his opponent. The young lady is a charming and exceedingly warm member of the Republican party, and as she had lots of faith in Gordon's chances unhesitatingly entered into the agreement. The lucky young Democrat waited until Wednesday night for the official vote and then began the collection of his bet.—Osceola Leader-Courier.

Macedonia a Desert.

The reported mobilization of the Turkish troops in Macedonia is, of course, a naked lie. How they are going to exist through the winter without invading Easter Roumelia (that is the southern half of Bulgaria) is beyond everybody's comprehension.

Macedonia itself is now simply a putrefying desert. It is reported that the stench is fearful. In the larger villages, which were ravaged by Bashibazouks, small-pox and typhus have already begun their work among the troops. To any one acquainted with the real facts of the situation and the actual objects and motives of the Sultan, the imposture he is practicing on the powers, of reform, is an audacious piece of comedy, but so long as the ambassadors of the power here wink at his fraudulent pretence he naturally feels encouraged to presevere in them.

Prisoner Escapes from Lancaster Jail—Was a Desperate Character—Miss Hobson, a Sister of Merrimac Hero Sued.

DANGER ORDERS TO TRAINMEN

NEW YORK, November 12.—Before he started for Europe Wednesday on the Majestic, William J. Bryan was asked by interviewers:

"Will the Democrats go to the polls next year as a union party?"

"I think all Democrats will be united at the polls but not of course those who are not Democrats. Those who are not Democrats will not be with the Democrats."

"If all agreed upon you, would you accept the nomination?"

"I am not a candidate. I have said this before. I repeat it, I am not a candidate for the office.

"On my return I shall simply resume my fight for Democracy and what I shall do can be gauged by what I have done in the past. I hope to keep up the fight for at least twenty-five more years. I will then be sixty-eight years of age, and in the meantime there will be six Presidential elections. Even then I may not be too old to continue the fight."

Mr. Bryan would not discuss the Panama situation at this time.

NEW YORK, November 12.—The summonses that Captain Richard Pearson Hobson, secured on Monday for tde appearance of three people to try and explain the disappearance of jewelry, money and one of his medals, were Wednesday dismissed. Miss Margaret Hobson, his sister, had reported their loss. Miss Hobson seemed to be somewhat indefinite about the disappearance of the valuables when she testified Wednesday and the judge advised that she drop the case as he believed there was no warrant for further action. The summons were then dismissed.

Miss Hobson later was served with papers by attorneys for her colored maid, Lizzie Britt, in a $10,000 damage suit. The papers charged false arrest and imprisonment and malicious persecution.

In an affidavit the maid swore that on the evening of the fifth, while leaving the sanitarium, she was accosted by a man and woman detective employed by Captain Hobson. She further averred that she was taken back to the sanitarium and searched and kept there a prisoner all night.

LONDON, November 12.—The Daily Mail, commenting on the Roxburghe-Goelet wedding says:

"We may congratulate ourselves that the barbaric debauch of color, perfume and expensiveness did not take place in this country. Everything emblematic of mere religion seems to have been obliterated under the sensuous garments of materialized wealth.

"It is in moments like this that the Americans surpass the civilized and barbaric world. The supposable overpowering presence of money compensates them for any slight defects in good taste and restraint. The Duke of Roxburghe, with his simple English bringing up, makes an odd figure in the crowd, almost a pathetic one, lacking even the reassuring conspicuousness of ante-nuptial settlements."

LANCASTER, November 12.—James Wilson, colored, escaped from an iron-clad cell in the county jail Wednesday night. He removed the iron frame of his cell window and one of a row of spikes on the outside and an iron ventilator. This gave him an opening not over eight by eighteen inches. He gasped himself thoroughly and after getting through the opening reached the roof by aid of a lightning rod and the top of the wall by climbing up the rainspout. He then used an improvised rope to lower himself to the ground.

Wilson is a desperate burglar and was recently captured in a cave near Chickies Rock, Pa., where he had a large amount of plunder. He was awaiting trial at the next term of court.

DES MOINES, Ia., November 12,—Detective McLaughlin, of the Rock Island railroad, has ordered the release of James Murphy, the suspect captured near Earlham, and supposed to have been implicated in the dynamiting plot to hold up the road for $1,000. The stranger who was shot near the same place is recovering, but refuses to talk, and increasing suspicion is directed toward him. The road has issued danger orders to its trainmen, indicating that trouble is still anticipated.

A REMARKABLE CASE.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I ran down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

A Mammoth Holiday Issue.

The December Delineator (Christmas Number) represents the high-water mark of beauty and utility, and possibly of circulation also, in a woman's magazine, having a first edition of more than a million copies. It contains 240 pages. To produce this mammoth edition 728 tons of paper and 49 presses working 25 days were required. In addition to exquisite color work, clever fiction and strikingly illustrated articles, the number includes a display of charming Winter fashions coveriag forty-two pages, letters from the foreign fashion centres and illustrated articles on the fashionable fabrics and trimmings, millinery, etc. Among the notable contributors are: Richard Le Gallienne, with a delicate romance, A Wedding Ring in the Garden, containing lyrics in the author's best vein; W. A. Frazer, with an Indian tale, the Net of Leo; Albert Bigelow Paine, with a delightful sketch founded on the foibles of the collector; Harriet Prescott Spofford, with a love story of unusual interest; Andrew Lang, with a clever travesty on the usual fairy tale; and Gustav Kobbe, with an interesting paper describing the life of Mme, Emma Eames, in her Italian home, with her portrait in colors. There is also the third installment of the Evolution of a Club Woman, the piquant narrative of clubdon by Agnes Surbridge, and a remarkable photographic article by J. C. Hemment. There are many beautiful art features, among them four pages in colors representing Babyhood, Childhood, Girlhood and Motherhood—the work of Bernard J. Rosenmyer. For the children there are entertaining games and stories, and for the house wife many practical suggestions in cookery and other departments of the home, for the Christmas season.

An Englishman's Joke.

C. B. Woods is superintendent of construction of the beautiful British pavilion at the World's Fair, which is a reproduction of the Orangery at Kensington Palace. He is a Londoner, born and bred, but he enjoys a joke as keenly as any Yankee. While the building was growing Mr. Woods was often approached by visitors who inquired what the structure was. His reply was invariably couched in the politest language, but when he saw a chance to perpetrate a joke he did not hesitate, even though the laugh was on the English. When Mr. Woods is now asked the question he points to a large sign board, on which is painted in large letters the legend. "The British Building Don't You Know."

Curtis Johnson, of 583 Bishop street, freight truckman, says: "I had backache and lameness across my loins for a year or more. At times the lameness was so acute I could lift nothing and if I stooped it was impossible for me to straighten. When driving there was a steady aching over my kidneys the whole time and I had a dull tired feeling which took away all my ambition. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills from F. Potts Green's drug store and they soon cured me from the whole combination of troubles and they did it quickly and thoroughly. My wife was also suffering from a tired, grinding backache and she used Doan'e Kidney Pills and they invigorated her generally. She now speaks of them as highly as I do. We never came across any remedy which surpassed Doan's Kidney Pills."

STARTLED

By some sudden sound she drops the vase upon the floor. She is nervous and may be told that nervousness is a luxury which only a rich woman can afford to indulge in. Nervousness has cost many a woman her position. Sometimes when women run machinery the price of nervousness is mutilation,—a finger lost or perhaps the whole hand crushed.

Nervousness in women is commonly but a symptom of womanly disease. It is useless in such cases to "doctor" for the nerves alone. Cure the diseases which attack the delicate womanly organism and nervousness will be cured also.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong, sick women well. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It tranquilizes the nerves and induces refreshing sleep.

"In the fall of 1897, I was troubled with nervousness, headache, heart trouble and female weakness," writes Miss Blanch M. Bracey, of Sala, Oswego Co., N. Y. "Last summer I wrote you and you advised me to try your 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I did so and I began to improve rapidly. Continued taking the medicine, half a dozen each of 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery' for the space of five months, and in less than a year had regained my former health."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets clear the muddy complexion.

MISS GOELET'S TROUSSEAU

Novelties In Dresses Ordered by the Duke of Roxburghe's Fiancee.

Miss May Goelet already has begun buying the trousseau for her wedding with the Duke of Roxburghe, says a Paris cable dispatch to the Cincinnati Enquirer. Fashionable modistes in Paris have received orders for innumerable beautiful things. Among them is a large number of empire dinner dresses embroidered in steel diamond drops and floss silks. There is an innovation in a ball dress Miss Goelet has ordered because it is trimmed with a new material called pink lumineux.

Another has a bodice with an 1830 cape of Irish point. A wonderful dinner dress is nile green voile de soie embroidered with pearls. Of many calling gowns ordered the prettiest is of dark blue velvet. A striking gown is of velours mousseline, relieved with green and white. Miss Goelet's at home dresses are Irish point and d'alencon trimmed with Louis Quinze knots. All the gowns are to be packed in iris scented cases.

The Men Behind the Guns.

Again the men behind the guns
Are winning wide attention,
And their achievements Uncle Sam
Is very proud to mention.
For in their practice with big guns
All records they are breaking
In speed with which they load and fire
And hits that they are making.

Of course we know that in the past
They on the seas gained glory
By smashing fleets of enemies,
As told in song and story.
But with such laurels they won't rest,
For they desire perfection,
To be prepared for other foes
That come in their direction.

They're well aware that in a fight
Where cannon roar and rattle
That shots which quickly hit the mark
Are shots that win the battle.
They also know that times of peace
Are times for preparation,
So when the crucial test shall come
'Twill find no hesitation.

Inspired by motives such as these
And patriotic feeling,
The men who serve behind the guns
New prowess are revealing.
Through targets that are far away
They send huge missiles crashing,
And in the frequency of hits
All records they are smashing.

We hope our men behind the guns
Will ne'er have cause for showing
To foes in ships upon the seas
Their skill in missile throwing.
But just the same we must admit
That there is satisfaction
In knowing that they'll fill the bill
If there comes need for action.

—Theodore H. Boice in Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Woman is often referred to by man as "doubling his joys and halving his sorrows." That may be complimentary but it would seem to be rather hard on the woman. For in plain terms it means that where things are going well with the man his wife makes them go better. But when things are going ill with him, he expects the wife to share half the burden. And there's more truth than poetry in this presentation of masculine selfishness. Men don't appreciate the fact that the strain of motherhood alone is a burden bigger than all the loads that rest upon male shoulders. They see the wife grow thin, pale, nervous and worn without a though that she is over-burdened. Among the pleasant letters received by Dr Pierce are those from husbands who have waked before it was too late to the crushing burdens laid upon the wife, and in search for help have found in Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription a restorative which has given back to the mother the health of the maiden and the maiden's happiness. 'Favorite Prescription' always helps, and a most always cures. It has perfectly cured ninty eight out of every hundred woman who haved used it when afflicted with diseases peculiar to women.

Election Losers Supply Fun For New Yorkers.

BROADWAY STROLLERS AMUSED.

Impersonator of Uncle Sam Trundles Gloating Winner In Wheelbarrow. Diners From Sherry's and Delmonico's Hear Street Speech on "Altruism of Tammany"—Clubman Sells "Extras" on a Corner.

The men who bet on Mayor Low in the municipal election in New York have recently been doing their turns for the entertainment of the crowds along Broadway. The first performance took place the other night in Madison square about 9 o'clock, says the New York Commercial Advertiser. A young man wearing duck trousers, frock coat and a silk hat and smoking a cigarette was pushed around the streets in a wheelbarrow by a man disguised as Uncle Sam. Behind them a corps of losers marched to the tooting of a cornet, each with an "I Told You So" placard on his back. After circling the square they marched up Broadway to Forty-second street; then turned and returned to Madison square, with a large crowd following.

At the corner of Forty-fourth street and Fifth avenue a well known member of the Harvard club gathered a crowd of curious bystanders around him and discoursed on the delights of co-education and the altruism of Tammany. Several listeners became considerably interested. When the diners from Sherry's and Delmonico's began to file out and join the circle, the crowd became a bit suspicious, but did not cease attention. At exactly 11 o'clock the speaker stopped in the midst of "I believe with Tammany; we should segregate the sexes," and started madly through the crowd for a Broadway car. The audience faded away sheepishly.

Under an elevated station at Twenty-third street and Sixth avenue a well dressed man, who is not unknown in the clubs, appeared about midnight with a bunch of papers under his arm. With no apparent hesitancy he began to shout: "Here you are! Evening Tiger! All about the election!" Scarcely a passerby escaped him. In spite of the fact that the paper had a large flaring portrait of McClellan and was dated Nov. 3, several persons purchased them, and the vender pocketed the pennies without scruple. At 12:30 the man was still shouting: "Evening Tiger! [illegible] about the election!"

On Madison avenue a man suddenly appeared about 10 o'clock on stilts and started walking down the street with a lantern in one hand. A crowd of men and boys soon gathered and cheered him along. Several men in evening dress followed at a safe distance and now and then stopped and laughed heartily. The man walked as fast as he could, and when the crowd got too obtrusive he stopped and leaned against a post and wiped his brow. There was a great deal of laughter and many derisive shouts from the onlookers, but every one seemed to understand the circumstances.

When the party in evening dress came up, one of them pointed his stick at the perspiring gentleman and said, "Now, Toddy, your speech."

The man raised his lantern at attention and began very soberly:

"Ladies, I'm Demosthenes II. looking for an honest man. Those gentlemen there refuse to"— Then he burst out with a laugh, jumped off his stilts and ran over toward the group. "That's enough for once," he said.

The men clapped him on the back, and the crowd drifted away.

When asked the cause of the demonstration, one of the men said, "Why, Toddy bet Devery wouldn't get a vote in the Twenty-fifth."

CHILDREN AS BAGGAGE.

A Couple's Odd Scheme to Beat a Railroad.

At Davenport, Ia., the other day a conductor on the Rock Island railroad discovered a six-year-old boy in a satchel and unearthed a ten-year-old girl that had been placed in a sack, says a Des Moines (Ia.) dispatch.

This condition was the result of a desire on the part of a couple to travel without paying fare for their five offspring. They were below the half fare limit, but the two that were found secreted in such a novel manner were above it. Cries of the youth, whose smothered words, "I wanna git out!" attracted the attention of the conductor and resulted in the exposure of the scheme to beat the railroad.

How Gen. Miles Captured the South.

"General Miles," said a southern member of congress to the Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune, "is growing very popular south of Mason and Dixon's line. The change of sentiment began with a little speech he made some time ago at Charlottesville, Va., at a session of the national good roads convention. 'I am glad to see a marked improvement in the roads in this part of Virginia,' said General Miles. 'More than a generation ago I tried to get over these roads,' he continued, referring to his operations in the vicinity against Confederate troops, 'but I found nearly every highway absolutely impassable.' This humorous and subtle tribute to the valor of southern arms was warmly applauded in Charlottesville, and as the remark has traveled throughout the south it has won for the general pleasant welcomes from Maryland to Texas."

INFORMATION FOR MOSELY.

Country Schoolboy's View of What Americans Can Do to John Bull.

The members of the Mosely educational commission visited a typical "deestrick school" at Palos, Ill., the other day, and through their desire to have the pupils questioned gained some decidedly unwelcome information, says the Chicago News. The following dialogue tells the story:

The boy in the third seat back, what's your name? Richard O'Connell.

You have studied history? What did we have in 1776? The Revolution.

Against whom was it? The British redcoats.

What did we do to them? We licked 'em.

Did we ever have any more trouble with them? Yes, in 1812. We licked them again.

If we ever had any more trouble with them would we lick them? You bet.

At this point one of the commissioners lost patience and remarked to his disgusted colleagues:

"How perfectly ridiculous to teach a child a thing like that!"

Consequently great confusion is caused, one Mr. Johnson receiving another Mr. Johnson's guests and sometimes mail. The petitioner avers he is suffering from an aggravated case of "too much Johnson."

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood.

If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

MINISTER FROM PANAMA

Character Sketch of Philippe Bunau-Varilla.

PARISIAN TO THE FINGER TIPS.

Diplomatic Representative of New Republic to the United States Is Credited With the Boulevardier's Easy Manner Without Frivolity. Full of Energy and Enthusiasm, Always In Earnest—His Unceasing Work In Promoting the Canal.

It has been announced that the revolution in Panama was planned in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York by Philippe Bunau-Varilla, a handsome French engineer and stockholder in the Panama Canal company, who has appeared in Washington as the diplomatic representative of the republic of Panama, says James Creelman in the New York World.

It is a fact that M. Bunau-Varilla has been living at the Waldorf-Astoria this summer and has been in communication with the men who are supposed to have overthrown the authority of Colombia in Panama. He has been the protagonist in the effort to force the Panama canal bargain through. As a heavy stockholder and as the engineer who assisted De Lesseps on the isthmus he has fought desperately in public and in private to secure for his company the $40,000,000 promised by the United States.

I have seen and talked many times with this remarkable man. He is a Parisian to the finger tips, well groomed, witty and agreeable. He has the easy manner of the boulevardier, without frivolity. He is of a good figure, compact, graceful and not too tall. His face is plump and oval, dark eyes, small black mustache, strong chin and good natured mouth. He is full of energy and enthusiasm, quick in his movements, radiantly conciliatory in his manner. He is always in earnest.

The man who now speaks for the provisional government of Panama was at one time employed as an assistant to De Lesseps in the isthmian canal work at Panama. It was he who persuaded that hapless genius to abandon the idea of a sea level canal and substitute the lock system until the enterprise should have an income large enough to justify the completion of the work on a sea level basis. Before the great scandal in France compelled the abandonment of the canal as a French project M. Bunau-Varilla was actually in full charge of the construction forces on the isthmus.

His brother is the political editor of Le Matin, and he himself is a writer of some ability. He was a classmate of Captain Dreyfus and graduated as an engineer with honors. His acquaintance with the prisoner of Devil's island gave him an opportunity to render an important service to those who brought about the captain's restoration to freedom. It was a note written by Captain Dreyfus to M. Bunau-Varilla which convinced his brother, the editor, that the alleged documentary evidence of treason upon which the officer was condemned was not written by Captain Dreyfus. Then followed the expose in Le Matin, which raised an outcry in France and resulted in the successful public agitation for a new trial.

There is something daring in the whole man. When he went to Washington to work against the Nicaragua canal route—at that time strongly indorsed by the canal commission—he went boldly to the opponents of the Panama route and tried to talk them over to his side. He even visited Senator Morgan, the champion of the Nicaragua idea, and vainly labored to change the veteran's mind. He made a tour of the western cities and lectured before commercial bodies on the superiority of the Panama route. Then he went back to Paris, convinced his fellow stockholders that they must sell at the price agreed by the United States and overthrow Maurice Hutin, the president of the company, who was holding out for more money.

He moved rapidly, brilliantly, audaciously. Night and day he stuck to his plans. Every instrumentality of intrigue or persuasion was wielded with tireless energy. He had a great fortune at stake, but he assured all who questioned his motives that he was inspired by his pride as an engineer, his desire to see a great work in which he had taken part finished successfully.

The Football Girl.

Eyes that are clear as the sparkling air
When the frost sprinkled forests flame;
Cheeks all aglow with the daintiest red,
Wind tossed hair round a graceful head,
Bonny and blithesome beyond compare—
Hail to the queen of the game!

There are courage and hope in her eyes so brown,
And she raises the blue flag high,
And, winning or losing, till all is done
She is true to her colors and cheers them on,
With the Yale blue violets in her gown,
Fair symbol of loyalty.

There is much that is dear in the victor's prize—
Honor, applause and fame—
But when the strife ends in a victory
The first and the best which the winners see
Is a swift flashing signal from beauty's eyes,
A smile from the queen of the game.

Then here's to the maid who begins her reign
When the dead leaves race and whirl!
Hearty and loud is the praise I bring,
For fairest of all is the maid I sing,
So fill up your glasses and pledge again
A toast to the football girl!

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18. 1903.

Up to the present the most interesting debate in Congress occurred in the Senate relative to the reception of the great number of petitions which have been sent that body from all parts of the country, demanding that Hon. Reed Smoot, the Mormon Senator from Utah, be expelled from the Senate on the ground that he is an apostle of the Mormon church, and as such was compelled to take an oath of allegiance to his church as the highest civil as well as religious authority in the land. Most of these petitions are printed blanks which have been distributed throughout the country to be signed and sent to Senators. They are signed principally by women's organizations, such as the Daughters of the American Revolution and the W. C. T. U., and religious organizations. In many cases the phraseology of the petitions is identical, showing that they emanated from the same source. Former Secretary John G. Carlisle is to appear before the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections, as counsel for the petitioners. When the petitions were presented, Senator Hoar declared that they were out of order, as the question was a judicial one to be decided by the Senate Committee, and that petitioning that committee was as much out of place as petitioning the Supreme Court of the United States. Senator Dubois of Idaho took issue with Senator Hoar and declared that "these various organizations of Christain men and woman have a right to petition the Senate and it is their duty to do so. They know what they are doing. They represent the moral thought of the country and should not be discouraged." Most of the public men here disagree with Senator Dubois and believe that instead of representing the moral thought of the country, they represent the narrow bigotry of those who are happiest when they are attacking a religion which is not identical with their own. There is not the slightest chance of forcing Senator Smoot to give up his seat and many people believe that the mere investigation of his eligibility is an unworthy concession to the united bigotry of the country.

President Rooseveit has sent to the Senate the nomination of Brigadier General Leonard Wood to be major general, and the question of his confirmation has given the General's enemies the long looked for opportunity to attempt to check his career of rapid advancement. The nomination was refered to the committee on Military Affairs which will hold a public sitting to hear all the protests against making him a major general. If he is comfirmed, he will become head of the army in 1908 and can remain such until his retirement in 1924, thus preventing a long list of older officers, who are his inferiors in rank, from ever holding the position. Many officers in the army declare that as Wood was merely an army surgeon before the War with Spain, his rapid rise was due to political influence and is unjust to older officers. Senator Teller stating he had no personal interest in the matter, has come forth as the protector of these officers and demands that the nomination be held up until the General's military record can be examined. The most bitter opponent of General Wood is Major Estes M. Rathborne, formerly director of posts in Cuba, and who is convicted of defrauding the government. Wood did all he could to bring Rathborne to justice. The Major declares his innocence, and says he was prosecuted for political reasons. He had a firm supporter in Senator Hanna, who is opposed to Wood's appointment. Rathborne makes serious charges against the general but it is generally doubted that he can sustain them. The Senate will probably confirm the nomination.

"I am much gratified to receive the letters whereby you are accredited to the government of the United States in the capacity of Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the republic of Panama," said President Roosevelt to M. Bunau Varilla as this representative of the infant republic of Panama was presented to him in the White House by Secretary Hay. In the words of the new minister, the President thus admitted "into the family of nations the weakest and the last-born of the republics of the new world." Panama is now a sovereign state in the eye of our government, and it will not be long before we take up negotiations with it, for the construction of the canal. Columbian troops are said to be hurrying to the Isthmus to punish the "traitors," but our government will not permit them to land at either Panama or Colon, and may inform the Columbian government that any hostilities even in the remotest vicinity of the Panama Railroad will not be permitted by this government. This would make the suppression of the revolution very difficult, if not absolutely impossible. In fact friends of the new Republic can be now certain that its national existance is guaranteed by this country.

Much comment has been aroused by the publication of that part of the President's regular message to Congress which related to the canal negotiations. It was written before the revolution in Panama and has now been cut out of the message. The President says, "High authorities on international law hold that the canal can be dug as an incident to exercising the power to prevent the obstruction of traffic across the isthmus." After stating that in his judgment it is time to declare that the building of the canal cannot be much longer delayed he continues, "It seems evident that in a matter such as this we should finally decide which is the best route, and if the advantage of this route over any other possible route are sufficiently marked, we should then give notice that we can no longer submit to trifling or insincere dealing on the part of those whom the accident of possession has placed in temporary control of the ground through which the route must pass." He ends by declaring that if the possessors of the territory fail to come to a straightforward agreement with us, "We must forthwith take the matter into our own hands."

The December 10-Story Book.

For the month of December 10-Story Book comes out in a cover by Earl Shearer, destinctly at variance with anything heretofore produced, and unique design are a feature of this popular publication. The list of writers is a strong one and the stories are exceptionally clever and range in scope from the humorous to the dramatic.

Opie Read's "The Jewel of His Mind" is delightful in its broad satire. The plot relates the discovery of a great genius in a country pumpkin. A story of strong contrast is "The Woman from Avenue A" by Dorothy Dix. Love as an incident of the upper and nether world is the theme. A posthumous production by the late H. S. Canfield, caused "Edward's Night Out" is thoroughly characteristic. Without doubt the death of Mr. Canfield removes one of America's best short story writers. "The Last of the Leveridges," by Jeannette Hademann Walworth, is powerful in dramatic intensity. "He never knew," by Anne Shannon Monroe, possibly tends to the morbid and sexual, but is good. The selected masterpiece for the month is by Charles Dickens, "A Trial For Murder."

Mysterious Picture Grows in the Night.

Canton, Pa., Nov. 12.—Up one of the most lonesome roads of Bradford county, about three miles from Canton, is an unpretentious house, which in the past few days has made a name for itself by reason of a mystery which has developed there.

A few years ago the house was occupied by Pericles VanDyke, his wife and their sons. Pericles was a spiritualist and often told his boys he would come back and visit them after he died. He and his wife have been dead for about four years, and the house has been occupied since by his sons, who are farmers and keep bachelors hall.

One night recently, while getting supper, one of the boys noticed a phosphorescent glow on the window casing, under his razor strop. A few evenings later he noticed the glow again, and, removing the strop, he was startled to find the portrait of his dead father staring at him in phosphorescent light. Neighbors were called in, and they, too, were astonished by the strange picture.

The casing has been scraped and washed, but the more this is done the brighter the portrait glows.

Every evening hundreds of persons flock to the house to see the phenomenon, and the boys have had to partly suspend their farming operations to receive visitors.

Liverymen in Canton are reaping a harvest, and the road to the house is now the most traveled highway in this section.

During the day the picture is not discernible, but at dark it begins to take form and at midnight it can be seen from the fields several rods in the rear of the house.

—The celebrated eye Doctor J. Angel who has many patients in Centre county will be at the Brockerhoff house in Bellefonte on Wednesday Dec. 16th, for one day only from 9 o'clock a. m. to 7 p. m. Persons wishing new glasses or desire to have their eyes examined by a skillful physician should see Dr. Angel. Remember he will be here but one day.

WILL OPEN UP NEW COUNTRY

The News readers are more or less familiar with the fact that a corps of surveyors have spent the past several weeks surveying in this vicinity. The following from the Pittsburg Post explains the object of the survey:

From the energy with which surveying engineering corps are pushing the route of a new railway through portions of Armstrong, Indiana, Clearfield, Cambria, Blair and Centre counties in this state, it is plainly evident that more than a mere "paper" railroad is to be built between Pittsburg and New York on as near a bee-line as can be had. The Post has learned that this project is no longer a contemplated move, but it has been obsolutely impossible to ascertain the backers of the gigantic proposition. It is known that the promoters of the new line have driven over the route twice during the past summer.

The proposed line is to be 73 miles shorter than the Pennsylvania between Pittsburg and New York, and though the mountains is to be constructed on an average level seventy-five feet higher than the Pennsylvania line. The surveying corps are now at work in the southern part of Centre county, in the vicinity of Ingleby and Coburn. The same corps of engineers were recently engaged in surveying the line through the southern part of Clearfield and the northern part of Cambria counties. Along the outlined route the trees are cut and a distinct beginning made for the new road. It will pierce through ridges and span valleys through the mountain region.

One of the objects understood to be in view, aside from main object of forcing through the Pennsylvania mountains a bee-line route between Pittsburg and New York, is that of reaching comparatively undeveloped sections of the State. Thus the north end of Westmoreland, the south end of Armstrong, the north end of Indiana, the line of Clearfield and Cambria, the southern portion of Centre, the north end of Blair, Union, Snyder and part of Colombia counties will be reached according to the proposition now being worked out Leechburg and Hyde Park, Armstrong county, have been wrought up over the proposed line, while the smaller towns of Clearfield and Centre counties are certain that the line is a Wabash project President Joseph Ramsey, Jr., of the Wabash, when asked about the matter while he was here recently, said that it is not a Wabash venture.

Bellefonte will be one of the objective points east from where the new line follows the route of the Lewisburg & Tyrone branch of the Pennsylvania, only having a more direct line. The new road will leave the route of the Lewisburg & Tyrone at or near Pardee, Union county, following Penns creek eastwardly and reaching Sunbury. It will pass north of Shamokin, thence through Columbia county, touching Newkirk, Schuylkill county, passing the Black mountain ridge at Lehigh Gap, on the line between Carbon and Lehigh counties, thence going through Northampton, county to the Delaware river opposite Belvidere, N. J., it will cross Warren, Morris and Essex counties, N. J.

Shot a Deer.

The Panther Hunting Club of Bellefonte returned home last Thursday evening in great spirits. Their happy hunting ground was on Eddy's Lick where they had been encamped for ten days. While they did not get an abundance of small game yet they secured a fair share and besides shot and killed the only deer captured by Bellefonte hunters this season.

It was a doe and weighed 97 pounds. Linn McGinley had the honor of shooting it he is very proud of the fact. The deer was on exhibition Friday and Saturday at Gettig's meat market. It was a dandy and elicited much admiration.

In this hunting party were John Knisely, Bruce Garman, R. S. Brouse, Harry Gerberich, W. Cassidy, John Decker, C. M. Heisler, Linn McGinley, Jacob Jury, Paul McGarvey and Lewis Gettig.

A Horse as Witness to Prove or Disapprove Manslaughter.

"Call the next witness!"

"Mrs. Horse to the stand!"

If you were in a court and heard a conversation like this you would sit up with surprise. But in a few days something similar will occur at the bar of justice, when a very unusual horse will be made to give testimony in a case involving a large sum of money, and perhaps a man's liberty.

This strange happening and many more fully as interesting, with all the best fashion news, humor, and entertaining reading of every sort, can be found in next Sunday's New York World.

HUNTING NOTES.

The Woods Are Full of Hunters—More Than in Former Years.

The Boaks Spruce Run Park Association have been successful in hanging up one deer.

The Wingerts, or Green Briar party, who also camp in the Meadows, are reported to have killed two deer.

It is reported that Joseph Mayes of Clarence on Wednesday shot a monster buck on the Big Sandy which had twelve points.

Detective J. W. Rightnour of Bellefonte and Lon Grove of Moshannon and party, who are camping at Beaver Mills, have not been heard from.

The Lucas party of Snow Shoe, who are camping at the head of Eddy Lick have killed one deer, and a party of railroad men from Jersey Shore have also killed one op Eddy Lick.

The Homan party of State College, who are camping between the 3d and 4th mountains, have not been heard from, but a party of local hunters from the College killed one deer the first day of the season.

The Uzzle, Haines and Chambers party from Clarence, who are camping at the head of Yosts Run, have killed two deer. One, a buck, weighing 160 pounds, was shot by Davy Chambers, and the other, a yearling, was shot by John Etters.

Sam Hines and his son Perry of Mingoville, accompanied by one other man, camped for a few days last week in the Scootack region, returning Saturday. They brought back with them two fine deer—one shot by Mr. Hines and the other by his son.

The Zimmerman party of Hecla, consisting of David Zimmerman of Pittsburg, John of Johnstown, Will and Shuman of Hecla and Sam Hines and son Perry of the same place left Monday for the Scootack region to remain to the end of the season.

Bob Mann of Romola, Jacob Bathurst of Braddock and Lewis Everly of Romola, who started two days ahead of the Bellefonte hunting party to put up camp for them at the head of Eddy Lick, shot three fine deer the day before the Bellefonte parties got there.

Hunters tell us that the number of men in the Alleghenies this year beats all records. Three parties from Indiana county—numbering in all 35 men—are camping immediately east of Boak's Park, while another party from Johnstown have pitched their camp on Fields Run. There are twelve camps within a radius of six miles immediately east of the park, which are occupied by upwards of 100 men.

The Modock party of Boalsburg, who are camping at the Ross clearing in the Seven mountains, have killed one deer—shot by Wesley Meyers. The Riley party from the same place, who are camping in the Bear meadows, had not brought anything down up to last reports.

The Philipsburg Ledger says that two very fine deer, one a buck weighing over 200 pounds, were shot at Six Mile Run, Saturday, by a party, among them Rook, Erb and others. These trophies of the chase were brought to town and are on exhibition at Richards meat market, on Front street.

Odd Expression, "Sick as a Dog."

"Speaking of odd expressions, why is it that men are almost constantly saying 'I am as sick as a dog,' when they want to emphasize the fact that they are sick?" asked an observant citizen. "Now, does a dog get sicker than animals of any other kind? They may. I confess that I do not know about it myself, though I have seen a great many sick dogs. Other animals I know get quite sick, and nearly all animals are more apt to display their suffering than the dog. As a matter of fact, the dog is awfully decent about his suffering. He does not seem to want other animal beings around him to share somewhat of his suffering. As a rule he will slip away where other dogs may not see him. Why and whence the expression 'as sick as a dog?' The saying is very common. Most every man I suppose has said it at some time or other. Every man at least has heard the expression 'as sick as a horse.' But this is not so often. As a rule if a man feels very badly he is 'as sick as a dog.' It may be that the mere fact that the word 'dog' carries with it somewhat of odium has had something to do with bringing the expression 'as sick as a dog' into common use. This fact may have given rise to the belief that dog sickness was worse than any other kind of sickness. But, of course, this is all mere speculation. At any rate we know that when men are very sick, and when they want to emphasize the fact, they will tell you they are 'as sick as a dog.' How, or why, or when men first began to use the expression we do not know, and I suppose I am rather late in asking the question. Still, I would like to know. I have been 'as sick as a dog' myself, and have not hesitated to say so. But just why or how I was 'as sick as a dog' I cannot say even unto this good hour."

—Rev. J. B. Shaver, one of the best known Methodist divines in the Central Pennsylvania conference died Tuesday morning at his home in Hazleton, age 58 years. In 1880-82 he was pastor at Milesburg.

The Rite of Suttee.

The word suttee is from the Sanscrit sat, meaning pure; and it literally means a chaste and virtuous wife. From this, it was used to desi nate the self immolation of a widow by burning herself with the dead body of her husband. The practice has existed for many centuries, not only in India, but other Asiatic countries. In India it was most prevalent, and was professedly derived from the sacred books of the Brahmins, or followers of Brahma. It was taught that it conferred the highest merit on the widow herself and her dead husband. It was asserted that every woman who thus burned herself should remain in a region of joy with her husband for 35,000,000 years, while otherwise she would have no place in paradise. A careful study of the Vedas and the Institutes of Manu has shown that these works do not command suttee.

The mode of performing suttee was much the same throughout India. The widow bathed herself, dressed in her best clothes, had the sides of her feet painted red, and sat by her husband's corpse until the proper time. A hole was dug in the ground, and a bed formed of green boughs. On this the funeral pile was built, composed of dry wood, hemp, clarified butter, etc. The widow gave her ornaments to her friends, painted her forehead, tied red cotton around her wrists put two new combs in her hair and when the body of her husband was placed on the pile, walked around it seven times, scattering parched rice and cowrie shells, and finally ascended the pile, to which she was fastened with ropes. The eldest son or the head man of the village then lighted the fire.

When the Mohammedans conquered India, in the sixteenth century, their emperor, Akbar, prohibited suttee, but without much effected. Early in the nineteenth century the East India Company tried to stop it; yet in the years from 1815 to 1826 there were 7,154 cases officially reported in Bengal alone. In 1826 the English governor general ordered that all assistance or participation in any act of suttee should be punishable as murder. The Brahmins denounced this as an interference with their religion; and sent an agent to England, with a large sum of money, to secure its repeal, but without effect. In 1847 this prohibitory order was extended to the native states tributary to England, and the practice is now believed to be extinct in all British India.

Tyrone Hunters Camping Near Unionville.

The Sylvanus Hunting club of Tyrone left Saturday morning on the Bald Eagle valley train for the mountain. Leaving the cars at Unionville they pitched their camp in the great gap of the neighborhood well out from ordinary civilization, where they hope to know no man save themselves to the end of the season, the last hour of the last day of the present month. They went away in full possession of nerve, grit, and all the necessaries for keeping the body in trim during the two weeks yet remaining of the season. They feel sure that none of the other clubs will be in it with the Sylvanus outfit for fun and game.

The club this year carries on its roll the following hunters from way back: John Noll, Ralph Housel, W. L. Study, "Benny" Shellenberger, W. M. Snyder, Joshua Burley, Tyrone; David Reily, Altoona; C. A Good Game of Foot Ball Next Saturday.

On next Saturday the Bellwood foot ball team will be here and play the Bellefonte Academy's strong team on the fair grounds.

The Bellwood team is an unusually good one and very evenly matches in weight the Academy. They played several weeks ago at Bellwood, the game being close and exciting.

The Academy boys were accorded splendid treatment by the people of Bellwood and it behooves us to do the same when the Bellwood boys come down here.

The game next Saturday will be called at 2:30 o'clock. Special officers will be present to keep the audience back off the field and a good clean game is assured.

MRS. FISH ON SOCIETY.

Society Woman Says There Is Too Much Silliness and Snobbery.

Still talking on the theories she exploited during her western trip, Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, who recently returned to New York, repeated her views on the errors of society and the "ridiculous Four Hundred" in particular, says the New York Press.

"Social position is no longer a matter of dollars and cents," said Mrs. Fish. "By that I mean a position in good, solid society, not the tawdry imitators, the fringe, you know. I am disgusted with this new fad—conservatism. That is aggravated snobbery. I believe men of mental ability—thinkers, artists and that class—should be admitted to our best drawing rooms. Nothing would enliven the present day dullness as would the presence of brilliant men and women. I am a New Yorker bred and born, and I think this city is making feeble headway. Washington will eventually be our social center, because society there teems with brains, and here it teems with silliness. Chicago is improving, and I found that a most delightful city. Really that western city will soon outstrip us in the matter of population unless we are careful."

At the mention of the Four Hundred Mrs. Fish lifted a warning finger. "Not that phrase, please—the ridiculous Four Hundred, indeed. It means nothing. Why, the phrase bespeaks snobbery. The original Four Hundred passed years ago."

The Rejuvenated Mississippi.

One of the signs of the times is the revival of river traffic on the Mississippi. There has not been enough tonnage on the river this last season to take care of the freight traffic between St. Louis and the upper part of the river, and for the first time in many years through boats were run from St. Louis to New Orleans. Passenger traffic has revived greatly, and building of some very luxurious packet boats is contemplated. For the months of March, April and May last spring the amount of freight shipped from St. Louis by river was 102,000 tons, an increase of 70 per cent over the corresponding months of the preceding year.

Testing Wall Papers.

A very careful woman I know who five years ago built a new house before deciding on her wall papers carried home samples of those she liked best. Three or four of those of whose lasting qualities she stood in doubt faded badly after a few days' exposure to the sun, while others gave up much of their beautiful bloom and color when well rubbed with a duster. Her choice, of course, fell on the papers which stood a test, and she assured me they wear finely.—Good Housekeeping.

New War Balloon.

Captain Romeo Frassinetti of the First regiment of Italian infantry, stationed at Ravenna, has constructed a new balloon, which probably will be adopted by the Italian minister of war, says the Rome correspondent of the New York World. It is spindle shaped, but has a series of aeroplanes, some horizontal, others vertical, by manipulating which it can be made to ascend obliquely as well as vertically. The inventor has also applied some propellers of a new kind. He asserts that the balloon can travel at the rate of thirty miles an hour for forty consecutive

SOCIAL SERVICE WORK

Dr. W. H. Tolman Tells of His Tour Abroad.

SOCIOLOGICAL CONDITIONS STUDIED

Envoy of Miss Helen Gould, Who Has Returned With Philanthropic Lore From Europe, Describes Dunfermline's Pure Drink Saloon, Amsterdam's Life Saving Museum and London's Garden City.

Miss Helen Gould's expedition in "a search for the good" recently returned from Europe on the Rotterdam. The expedition was commissioned for the American Institute of Social Service of New York by Miss Gould. Those who arrived were Dr. W. H. Tolman, director of the institute, and Mrs. Tolman and Joseph Morrow, the photographer, who brought back several thousand photographs.

Dr. Tolman searched France, Italy, Holland, Belgium and Great Britain for first hand points in social, industrial and municipal betterment. In Dunfermline, the native town of Andrew Carnegie, he found "a moral saloon" conducted by the "public house trust." It differed from the public house of England and the saloon. Every drink that is sold is absolutely pure. The place must close early, nothing intoxicating is sold to children and absolutely no effort is made to push the sale of stimulating beverages. The manager enjoys a snug commission on nonalcoholic drinks and consequently makes a strong effort to sell these.

In Amsterdam the expedition discovered a museum of security. Every exhibit is a working model of some kind of machine for preventing accidents and safeguarding life. The American Institute of Social Service will organize a similar show. In England one of the most interesting discoveries was the plan for the first garden city of the world. Within an hour of London 3,800 acres have been secured for the model city, which will have houses, factories, schools, churches and everything following scientific and sanitary principles and artistic lines in landscape gardening. A British institute of social service is also being formed. It will be organized in a month, with Irish and Welsh branches.

"In France our studies were more general than anywhere else," said Tolman. "The Society of French Employers For the Prevention of Accidents In Factories and Workshops called for important study. After studying the ideas of this society I lectured before 1,200 members and delegates, telling them what American employers are doing for their workmen. The French employers were anxious to have their employees hear exactly what other countries are doing.

"We studied Paris to find out how she makes herself beautiful, seeing, for instance, how electric light poles can help to beautify a city.

"Co-operation is the great movement in Italy. The co-operation societies have handled more than $128,600,000. In Belgium there is a movement looking toward credit societies, the worth of which can be estimated when it is understood that they have accumulated $10,000,000 to aid workingmen.

"In Dunfermline a committee has charge of a social trust of some millions given by Andrew Carnegie. While I was in Dunfermline I talked with Dr. Ross, the head of the Carnegie social trust committee, a lovable Scotchman. At his invitation I lectured before 1,400 people at St. Margaret's hall on 'Social and Industrial America,' and incidentally, at Dr. Ross' request, gave suggestions as to plans for carrying out the social trust.

"In the different countries we worked with and were assisted by the collaborating members of the American institute. In Ireland we were under the direction of Sir Horace Plunkitt, vice president of the department of agriculture and technical education for Ireland. The Guinness brewery in Dublin looks after its employees in every possible manner, having hospitals, clubhouses, recreation rooms, athletic clubs and restaurants. Meals are paid for in postage stamps instead of brass checks. The postage stamp serves as an audit. It is easier to carry and superior to the brass check."

Oppressed Co-eds.

Now it is the co-eds of Stanford university that have a grievance. The order has gone forth that hereafter they shall not go walking with their young men after dusk. Only one exception is made, that in the case where there is a bona fide engagement existing between the young people.

DEATH GERMS IN PULLMANS

Modern Luxury In Palace Cars Declared a Menace to Public Health.

"The modern palace car, with its many decorations and draperies, is a menace to the public health. Railroad coaches should be made as plain as possible in order that they may be cleaned thoroughly after each trip." Dr. James A. Elkton made the above statement at the thirteenth annual meeting of the New York State Association of Railway Surgeons the other night in New York.

"Every medical man," he continued, "knows that the origin of a large proportion of communicable diseases is traceable to the direct or indirect contact of the sick with the healthy. The transmission is most likely to occur by protracted contact with the person or surroundings which the infected have contaminated. For many reasons the ordinary railroad coach, because of its varied use and occupancy, might furnish a fruitful opportunity for the dissemination of disease. On account of the carelessness of the public, the railroad companies are to a lamentable degree afforded encouragement for laxity in the matter of hygienic regulations.

"Yet railroad companies beautify their vehicles and vie with each other in the matter of design and ornamentation in utter disregard for the important matter of hygienic conditions.

"Crowded immigrant ships bring contagion to our shores, and the railroads, unless some wise sanitary regulations be made, may become a potent vehicle in scattering it broadcast through the land."

The doctor also argued for a more healthful distribution of air through railway coaches.

After the conclusion of Dr. Elkton's address a paper written by Dr. G. P. Conn of Concord, N. H., dealing with the same subject, was read, and then the meeting discussed the matter and agreed that it was time that something should be done to make the traveling public less liable to infection.

THE POWER OF MONEY.

Chinese Move Graves From Railway's Path When Paid.

H. E. Huntington and E. H. Harriman are interested with Edwin Hawley, T. F. Oakes, Frederick F. Eldridge and other New Yorkers in a syndicate to get railway concessions from China to build several important lines, says a San Francisco dispatch to the Chicago Inter Ocean. One agent of the syndicate, A. W. Bash, has gone to China to secure the concessions. Another representative of the combine, R. M. Hopper of Philadelphia, who was in San Francisco on his way to join Bash, says the outside world generally believes that the reverence of the Chinese for the graves of their ancestors constitutes a great obstacle to the building of railroads in China.

"This is a mistake," he says. "If necessary, they will put the bodies in new graves, but they charge a pretty sum for violence to their feelings. They have an eye to the main chance."

RELIC FROM IONA ISLAND.

Famous Sacred Stone Destined For Washington Cathedral.

An old and weather worn stone of somewhat checkered appearance is soon to become a precious relic and a priceless possession of the new cathedral at Washington, says the New York American. Lady Susan Grant, who is the daughter of Sir Alexander and Lady Grant of Edinburgh, recently arrived in the United States and has in her keeping this relic, taken from the floor of the ruins of the old cathedral on the island of Iona, in which in the year 563 Saint Colomba stood and preached the gospel to the ancient Britons.

Miss Grant has an authentication from the custodian of the cathedral and from the bishop of Argyll and the Isles, who sends it in her care to the Right Rev. Henry Y. Satterlee, Episcopal bishop of Washington.

The peon child of Mexico may now pass from his letters to the highest diploma entirely at government expense, and the government hopes shortly to make education compulsory.

A Message to Manchuria.

Alas, for that unhappy land,
Manchuria!
Now menaced by a Tartar band,
Manchuria.
Between the Chinaman and Russ
You're in the most unpleasant muss;
It's pretty sure to grow much wuss,
Manchuria.

The bear is sniffing at your heels,
Manchuria.
We hear your faint and faroff squeals,
Manchuria.
We really don't know what to do;
The bear would laugh if we said "Boo!"
Our fond regrets we send to you,

IN OCTOBER DAYS.

A Portrayal of Forest and Field by John Burroughs.

Now comes the ..set of the verdant year,
When chemic.. ..s still and slow,
Burn in the leaves till trees and groves appear
Dipped in the sunset's glow.

Through many stained windows of the wood
The day sends down its beams
Till all the acorn-punctured solitude
Of sunshine softly dreams.

I take my way where sentry cedars stand
Along the bushy lane,
And whitethroats stir and call on every hand
Or lift their wavering strain;

Where hazel bush holds up its crinkled gold
And scents the loitering breeze,
A nuptial wreath amid its leafage old
That laughs at frost's decrees.

A purple bloom is creeping o'er the ash,
Dull wine against the day,
While dusky cedars wear a crimson sash
Of woodbine's kindled spray.

I see the sturdy oak tree's smold'ring fire
Sullen against the emerald rye,
And yonder sugar maple's wild desire
To match the sunset sky.

On hedge and tree the bittersweet has hung
Its fruit that looks a flower,
While alder spray with coral berries strung
Is part of autumn's dower.

The plaintive calls of bluebirds fill the air,
Wandering by irresolute;
The ruby kinglet flitting here and there,
Fitful now his elfin flute.

Now downy shyly drills his winter cell,
His white chips strew the ground,
While squirrels bark from hill or acorned dell,
A true autumnal sound.

I hear the feathered thunder of the grouse
Soft rolling through the wood
Or pause to note where hurrying mole or mouse
Just stirs the solitude.

Listen—the furtive flock-call of the quail
Comes up from weedy fields;
Beyond, the mellow thud of lonely flail
Its homely music yields.

Behold the orchards piled with painted spheres
New plucked from bending trees,
And bronzed huskers tossing golden ears
In genial sun and breeze.

Once more the tranquil days brood o'er the hills
And soothe earth's toiling breast;
A benediction all the landscape fills
That breathes of peace and rest.
—John Burroughs in New York Times.

A New Field For Insurance.

More damage is done by water every year in England than by fire, yet we have fire insurance companies and no water insurance companies. Surely this suggests a new departure in insurance business, says the London Truth. The heavy and frequent rains and the floods this year must have injured or destroyed a vast amount of property.

AMATEUR COIN MAKERS

Growth of Iowa Community's Minting Business.

THE MONEY IS MADE OF ALUMINIUM

Novel Scheme Adopted by Williams (Ia.) Citizens to Expand Circulation—The Coins Have No Intrinsic Value, but Can Be Passed For Merchandise and Drinks.

Tired of hearing of an "expanded currency" and seeing it only in bargain counter lots, the merchants and farmers of Williams, Ia., and its vicinity have gone into the minting business on their own account and are turning out barrels of coins—dollars, half dollars, quarters and dimes—which pass current for anything from a shave to a thrashing machine. The coins are made of aluminium, and an individual's wealth is gauged by his shape, the lumpiest person being the richest because the bulging pockets contain handfuls of fiat money.

The coins have practically no intrinsic value, but are redeemable at stores for merchandise and at saloons for drinks, their value being guaranteed by the association of merchants authorizing their issue.

The first coins minted were given out by merchants as rebates on purchases on the same basis that the varicolored trading stamps are issued by merchants in the east and were redeemable for their face value in merchandise. So many merchants went into the scheme and the coins became so plentiful that they began to pass current as freely as authorized coin, and instead of hoarding the aluminium disks for a purchase at the store from which they were issued the people began to make small purchases with them, pay debts and use them in poker games. When the men folks found that they could purchase liquid refreshment with the light weight coins they ceased to turn them over to the goodwife for her to save up enough to get a grand piano or a sealskin sack and kept them in their pockets as they would loose change.

With the enormous expansion in the issue of these coins, coupled with the growth of their general use, pockets are now being made longer, and the women find the valise-like handbags now affected a real blessing when they start out on a shopping tour. The size of the contribution boxes in the churches has been increased, and the only place in town that won't accept the aluminium fractional currency is the post office. Uncle Sam demands money of his own kind.

At Webster, Ia., the fiat money scheme has also been successfully introduced and promises to spread over the state like a plague of locusts. Once or twice at Webster the coins have been at a premium. At present it looks as though the aluminium coins would soon be the popular medium of exchange for the entire west.

A TERRIBLE INSECT.

Reasons For Handling the Boll Weevil with Care.

A man living near Morrilton, Ark., has returned to that town from Texas and brought back a dozen cotton boll weevils.

This man is playing with fire, says the Arkansas Gazette. He might as well have brought back a gelatin tube full of yellow fever germs from Laredo.

The plague of rabbits in Australia started from a handful of these animals that were imported from another land.

Everybody knows that certain grasses and weeds that have been brought into a country have spread from an insignificant beginning until they have permanently established themselves over a vast territory.

Our dispatch from Morrilton says these boll weevils are in a bottle which is kept tightly corked, but some of the insects have been alive for a month. The dispatch says further that a "cotton square put into the bottle will be readily devoured."

But suppose a female weevil lays her eggs in a cotton square and it is then thrown out. The eggs might develop into larvæ and these into weevils, which next spring would proceed to increase and multiply.

The safest way to show what the boll weevil looks like is to use the method adopted by the Gazette, simply show a picture of the terrible creature.

To Expiate Calvin's Sin.

Plans are under way for the erection at Geneva of an expiatory monument as an expression of deep regret on the part of the followers of John Calvin for the one great error of his life—the causing of the death of Michael Servetus by burning at the stake 350 years ago. The inscription on the monument will say that coercion in matters of faith is repudiated.

Great Dome For St. Louis Fair.

The plans and specifications for the St. Louis world's fair festival hall, which is to stand at the head of the main cascade on Art hill, have been given to the contractors. The principal feature of the hall is the sculpture crowned top of the dome, 260 feet high. The dome, it is said, is to be larger than that of St. Peter's in Rome, which is the largest in the world. The soffit of the dome will be 122 feet from the floor of the theater. The proscenium arch of the stage will have a span of 93 feet 4 inches, and the stage will be fifty-four feet deep.

CLUB OF FISH EATERS.

Members of Illinois Society to Use Meat From Finny Tribe Only.

Boston, beware!

The center of learning and brains will shortly be transferred from the Hub to Melrose Park, Ill., where protuberant foreheads, shaped like Bartlett pears, will soon be the rule, says the Chicago Inter Ocean.

And on what meat will these Melrose Park neighbors live that they will have grown so brainy?

Brain food, of course; fish and nothing but fish.

Great thinkers and leaders will be as common as Mary and Ann guests when the new diet gets in its fine work. Goldfish diet is expected to produce Napoleons of finance, future Grants will live exclusively on swordfish, aspiring young clergymen will dine on whale, stockbrokers on suckers, coming great critics on carp, and an abundance of cod is regarded as certain to produce a codfish aristocracy.

This is the programme outlined by the newly formed Fish club of Melrose Park, the members of which organization have pledged themselves to eat no meat except that from the finny tribe. The idea of forming such a club suggested itself to Mrs. Joseph M. Goodman when she drew a bowl of goldfish in a raffle at the Sacred Heart fair. The club was recently organized with twenty-three members who met at Mrs. Goodman's home. The name of some fish was assigned to each member, and after cards a fish luncheon was served.

In former years Melrose Park society had a "rooster club" and a "pig club," the members of each being pledged to eat only the meat of the animals denoted by the club name. More than a thousand letters were sent to these clubs criticising their diet. These previous clubs partly suggested the Fish club. Meanwhile various members of Melrose Park society are hastening to get into the swim with the Fish club before they "get the mackerel eye."

VEST'S FEAT OF MEMORY.

Ex-Senator Quoted Letter Received Many Years Ago Without Mistake.

Senator Francis M. Cockrell was recently asked as to the health of former Senator George G. Vest, writes the Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Republic. He said that physically Senator Vest's condition is very bad, but that his splendid mind is unclouded by the afflictions of the flesh.

Mr. Vest is engaged in the preparation of a number of articles for publication and dictates for hours each day to a stenographer on important historical events of the past.

Not long ago Senator Vest was dictating, Senator Cockrell said, and reached a point where it was necessary to quote a letter received many years ago. Without referring to the letter, which he had not seen for a number of years, he dictated it from memory.

Members of his family were so interested in the feat that they looked up the letter and found that Mr. Vest had quoted it literally and without the slightest mistake.

POOR TIPS MIX UP BARBER.

He Takes Salutation In German For Morgan and Gates.

Members of the Chicago board of trade are telling an amusing story on Johnnie Schack, who lives "by the nort' site out," says the Chicago Inter Ocean. He went into the barber shop in the board building the other day to have the "fuz scraped off," and he saluted the barber in German.

The barber did not catch him when he said:

"Guten morgen. Wie gehts?"

It was evidently an off day with the barber, who was thinking of the money he had dropped in stock, and he replied:

"To —— with Morgan and Gates! I've tried to follow their tips and am up against it."

Yells at the White House.

The members of the Wisconsin Press association recently called on the president at Washington and were presented by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Taylor. The newspaper men were enthusiastic over their greeting from the president and held a sort of ratification meeting in the executive office as though Mr. Roosevelt had already been renominated and elected, says the Chicago Inter Ocean. They gave the college yell of the University of Wisconsin and three cheers and a tiger for the president. It was the liveliest reception that has been held in the president's office since Mr. Roosevelt returned from Oyster Bay.

New Fashion In Dog Collars.

Every year the fashion in dog collars changes. No longer do we see the bristling objects that resembled ruffs. The newest collar is modest and is adapted to Boston terriers and other medium sized dogs, says the New York Press. The foundation is a fine seal leather, and the collar is studded with dog's heads in gun metal. The new collars are not nearly so "sporty" looking as the brass studded bands of former years. Tiny dogs wear jeweled collars.

Odd Wedding Presents.

Harry Broadwater, one of the popular letter carriers of Woodbury, N. J., and Miss Mattie Wallace were married a few evenings ago. While the bride was the recipient of many very handsome presents, the groom was not overlooked. Among his gifts were a pair of sweet singing canaries, a kitten and a little white pig nicely decorated with pink ribbons. He shipped the latter to a near by farm and hopes to get plenty of pork.

CO-EDS IN A FROLIC.

Missouri University Girls Bar Males From Novel Show.

TWO, HOWEVER, SLIP BY GUARDS.

Women Policemen Used Clubs on Intruders and Threw Them Out of the Front Door—Startling Features, Including Fights, Riots, Races and Comical Parades.

The co-eds of Missouri university gave an exhibition the other day which for novelty and startling features broke all records at Columbia, Mo. The show was called "The Midway."

All males were barred, but a howling mob of students crowded the campus and tried vainly to get in. Two of them took advantage of the fact that the girl participants entered the hall disguised as Indians and negroes and got past the guards dressed as negro women. Their sex was discovered by the size of their feet. Four girls dressed as policemen rushed upon them, clubbed them until they fell to the floor and then threw them out of the front door.

A country fair, with other features, was represented, including side shows in little tents pitched in the corridors, a baby show, a shooting gallery, a floral hall, a race track, an animal show, a street parade and other features. Wives of the professors took a prominent part, were entered in the races and appeared as freaks in the side shows.

To keep up the delusion girls dressed as farm hands and "dead game sports" engaged at intervals in rough and tumble fights. The girls garbed as policemen rushed upon them and apparently beat them into submission with their clubs. A girl dressed as a football man, padded suit, nose guard and all, for a time stood off the entire police force, but was finally overpowered.

A band of Indians created much disturbance by flirting with the wild women in the side shows, but were finally driven off by the police. A ringmaster, with a huge mustache, bossed the show. She was frequently called upon to quell riots at the shooting gallery and at the baby stand, where the girls threw balls at the dummies with surprising accuracy. One girl bowled over five "tar babies," as they call them, in succession.

A special feature was a grand parade, the line of march being up and down the corridors on the second floor. It was headed by a band of twelve girls, playing on bazzoos, hair combs and tin horns.

Features of the parade were: A girl leading toy ponies on rollers with a string, a giraffe operated by two girls beneath the dummy; a big peacock on wheels, several stuffed roosters, a sacred cow, a cage with a figure of a sea lion chained on top and a huge stuffed tiger, with several kittens.

A smaller procession, known as the baby parade, followed the first. It was made up of ten girls dressed in baby clothes and carrying rattles and milk bottles, each accompanied by a buxom negro nurse. The programme was concluded with the races.

The track was through the main corridors. Girls in pairs, with their feet tied together, hopped down the corridor, wildly cheered by the crowd. Another feature was a hurdle race, with stools for hurdles, in which there were many bad tumbles, but no one was hurt.

THE BANKRUPT GIRL.

London's Latest Victim of the Prevalent Extravagant Era.

A new victim of hard times has been found, says a London cable dispatch to the New York Herald. It is a variant of the girl question, and, in addition to the bachelor girl, the matinee girl and the thousand and one other classifications there is now the bankrupt girl. Her sad straits are not directly due to financial stringency, nor is bridge specially to blame. She is an outcome of the increased cost of living. The allowance which was sufficient for the needs of the unmarried girl a few years ago is now declared to be entirely inadequate.

One young woman voices the plaint of herself and her sisterhood.

"Five years ago," she writes, "I had an allowance from my father of £75 ($375) per annum, and it sufficed. Today, after my allowance has been raised to £100 ($500), since Jan. 1 I find I am behind in my accounts, although I've not been one whit more extravagant than when my allowance was smaller."

This letter was put before a woman who has four daughters, each of whom has an allowance of £100 ($500) a year.

"It is quite true," she said, "that the expenditure of unmarried girls has risen. It has gone up in proportion with the demands made upon the purses of married women. As their dress has become more expensive, so, too, has that of unmarried girls. My daughters insist upon being turned out as well as married women, and their allowances do not suffice. They are in a constant state of bankruptcy in spite of their £100 ($500) a year, paid quarterly.

"I attribute this to club subscriptions, theaters, tips—what woman ever gave a tip twenty years ago?—country house visits, gewgaws, luncheon parties at west end restaurants and wedding presents."

PERIL IN GRAVY EATING

Senator Pettus Points Out Its Deleterious Effect.

SHORTENS THE LIFE OF MANKIND

That Is the Gastronomical Warning of the Youthful Alabama Statesman at the Age of Eighty-three—The Sooner Gravy Is Banished From Our Diets, He Says, the Better Will Be Coming Generation's Health.

"Young man," said Senator Pettus of Alabama, aged eighty-three, to a Washington correspondent, "the reason people get fat is because they eat too much gravy with their meat. Observe me. The Congressional Directory says I am eighty-three. Maybe I am, but I don't feel that old by forty years. I have never eaten much gravy. I was raised on a plain diet, and I have lived on it all my life. In this day gravy is called sauce, I know. It's a French word that means gravy, and if it had not been given a French name by the English speaking races I dare say not so much of it would be eaten. It is shortening the life of the race, just like so many other French abominations are, and the sooner we banish it from our diet the better will be the health of the generation of young men and women coming on to take our places.

"Now, mark you, I don't object to a little gravy on my meat, but just a little—just enough to aid deglutition. It does not aid digestion at all you know. On the contrary, it harms it—first, by interfering with the functions of the salivary glands, then by preventing the gastric juices from doing their perfect work, and finally by neutralizing the action of the alimentary juices. So I tell you to quit eating gravy on your meats. If you prefer to call it sauce, all right; but, by whatever name you designate it, by all means stop soaking your meats in it before eating them.

"A little of the natural juices of the meats, even if occasionally thickened with flour to give the gravy consistency, is not harmful; but, since the race is running to sauces, I am loath even to hint at the harmlessness of this."

"But, senator," the young man protested, "maybe it's your habits that have preserved you in perfect health to such a ripe old age. Haven't your habits been always regular? No late hours and all that sort of thing, eh?"

"My habits, young man," replied the fine old Alabama statesman, with a snort of rage and defiance, "have always been like the verb—regular, irregular and defective, begad, sir."

What Makes a Pretty Mouth.

There never lived a beauty without a pretty mouth and never lived an ugly girl who had a pretty mouth. Shape has nothing to do with the case. Cupid bows and curved lips are frivolous. Good teeth, a sweet breath, smooth lips, a red tongue, a soft voice and kind words are the essentials of a nice mouth.

—Not being very well versed in politics, I was astounded the other day, during the election excitement in New York, to see how strong the total abstinence party had become. It seemed to me everywhere I looked I saw placards, bearing the inscription "I'm On the Water Wagon Now." It occurred to me that New York had changed somewhat since I first knew it. Every window, bill board, and even the street sprinkling carts bore the above unique motto. I chanced to express my surprise to a friend who, laughing heartily, explained that it was the same old New York and that the legend "I'm On the Water Wagon Now" was simply the title of a song with which Frank Daniels, the comedian. is making an unusual hit in "The Office Boy." Well, all I can say is that modern advertising has certainly touched the limit, —Will power usually annihilates fate. Even brains are secondary to will, or a determination to succeed at all hazards. Men of force and grit, men who are not afraid of hard work, never complain of luck; they choose the conqueror's motto, "I will," and push on toward their goal. Rarely is their luck for idle, dawdling, nerveless men or women. Iron will and persistent industry are the best conquerors of ill luck. The barriers have not yet been erected which can shut out from success the determined man or woman.
